VOL. XLVII., No. 16. NEW YORK, April 20, 1895. WHOLE No. 1212

D. APPLETON & CO.'S NEW BOOKS.

Actual Africa;

OR, THE COMING CONTINENT. A Tour of Exploration. By FRANK VINCENT, author of "Around and About South America," "In and Out of Central America," etc. With map and 104 full-page illustrations. 8vo, cloth, $5.00.

This thorough and comprehensive work furnishes a survey of the entire continent which this experienced traveller has circumnavigated in addition to his inland explorations. The latter have included journeys in northern Africa, Madagascar, southern Africa, and an expedition into the Congo country which has covered fresh ground. His book has the distinction of presenting a comprehensive summary instead of offering an account of one special district. It is more elaborately illustrated than any book upon the subject, and contains a large map carefully corrected to date.

The Story of Sonny Sahib.

By Mrs. EVERARD COTES (Sara Jeannette Duncan), author of "Vernon's Aunt," "A Daughter of To-Day," "An American Girl in London," etc. With 10 full-page illustrations. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

This little romance of youthful heroism will fascinate older and younger readers alike. It is a story of the Indian Mutiny and the years which immediately followed.

Bog-Myrtle and Peat.

By S. R. CROCKETT. Uniform with "The Lilac Sunbonnet." Cloth, $1.50.

The idyllic charm of "The Lilac Sunbonnet" reappears in this fascinating picture of the quaint humor, the stern conviction, and the passing shadows of Scottish life. Mr. Crockett has made his place, and readers need no introduction to his work.

The Gods, Some Mortals, and Lord Wickenham.

By JOHN OLIVER HOBBES, author of "Some Emotions and a Moral," etc. With portrait of the Author. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

The author of "Some Emotions and a Moral" presents in this book her most ambitious work. She has written, not a study, or a collection of epigrams, but a complete novel, in which she has gone deeper and further than in any previous essay. Her brilliancy of thought and style is familiar, but her admirers will find a new force in the sustained power with which she has drawn some remarkable characters and worked out an impressive theme.

Spanish-and-English Dictionary.

A New Dictionary of the Spanish and English Languages. Containing the latest Scientific, Military, Commercial, Technical, and Nautical Terms. Based upon Velazquez's unabridged edition. In Two Parts: Spanish-English and English-Spanish. 16mo, cloth, $1.00.

The Marriage of Esther.

By GUY BOOTHBY, author of "On the Wallaby," etc. No. 166, Town and Country Library. 12mo, paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

Mr. Boothby haa entered the first rank of antipodean writers of romance, and the dramatic situations and sustained interest of this new romance will enlarge his circle of readers.

NOTES IN SEASON.

FREDERICK A. STOKES Co. will issue early next month "The Phantom Death, and other stories," in their Twentieth Century Series. "The Mite Dictionary" has now been published in England, where it has an immense popularity —80,000 copies having been sold in one year.

THE CASSELL PUBLISHING Co. have just issued "The Tiger Lily, a story of a woman," by George Manville Fenn; and "Parson Thring's Secret," by A. W. Marchmont. The additions to Cassell's Union Square Library are "Is She Not a Woman? or, Vengeance is Mine," by Daniel Dane; and "The Last Tenant," by B. L. Farjeon. In Cassell's Sunshine Series will appear "Out of the Fashion," by L. T. Meade; and "Lisbeth," by Leslie Keith. Cassell's Unknown Library has just received new editions of "Mademoiselle Ixe," by Lanoe Falconer; and "The Story of Eleanor Lambert," by Magdalen Brooke.

LOVELL, CORYELL & Co. will issue May 18, in the Belgravia Series, a new volume of Edward W. Townsend's inimitable sketches of Bowery life, entitled "Chimmie Fadden Explains, Major Max Expounds," for which orders will be filled in order of receipt. The publishers propose to advertise this book as they did "Chimmie Fadden, Major Max and other stories," in the daily papers of all large cities, so that dealers may feel sure of aroused public interest in the sequel of a book that made its mark. The 110th thousand of Barrie's "Little Minister" will be issued in The Century Series without illustrations; and also revised and enlarged with ten full-page illustrations.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will shortly issue a new story by Anna Katharine Green, entitled "Doctor Izard," said to be distinct in character from the author's specialty detective stories. "A Gender in Latin," by "Rita," will form the sixth instalment of The Incognito Library; "The Countess Bettina," the story of an innocent scandal, by an anonymous writer, will be the fifth, and "Her Majesty, the Queen," by Elizabeth Knight Tompkins, the sixth issue in The Hudson Library; and a volume of characteristic studies of undergraduate life, by John Seymour Wood, will be entitled "Yale Yarns." Of more serious nature will be a new edition of Archbishop Whateley's "Historic Doubts Relative to Napoleon Buonaparte"; "Life of Sir James Fitz James Stephen," by his brother, Leslie Stephen; "The Ancient Egyptian Doctrine of the Immortality of the Soul," by A. Wiedemann; and "Natural Taxation," by Thomas G. Shearman, No. 82 in The Questions of the Day Series.

MACMILLAN & Co. will shortly issue in their Eversley Series a uniform edition of the works of the late Sir John Seeley, comprising "Ecce Homo," "Natural Religion," "The Expansion of England," and "Lectures and Essays"; to the miscellaneous works of Dean Church, in the same series, will be added selections from his contributions to the Guardian and his "Beginnings of the Middle Ages," first published in the Epochs of Modern History. New editions are announced of Prof. Goldwin Smith's "Oxford and her Colleges," and of Zangwill's "Children of the Ghetto," the latter to be issued in one volume. They will also publish in their Columbia University Biological Series an important study of "Fishes, Living and Fossil," by Prof. Bashford Dean, instructor in biology at Columbia, and will issue, for the Columbia University Press, a valuable work on "Municipal Government," by Prof. Frank J. Goodnow, professor of Administrative Law in Columbia. The next issue in their edition of Dickens' works will be "Bleak House."

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p. in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no prices, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); (Q. 4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl. nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Adams, W: T., ["Oliver Optic," pseud.] In the saddle. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1895. c. 2-451 p. il. D. (The blue and the gray—on land ser., no. 2.) cl., $1.50. [1201

Many of the characters prominent in "Brother against brother," the preceding volume of the series, reappear. The residents of the section where the scene is laid—the southern part of Kentucky—see and feel the terrors and anxieties of civil war. The operation of a loyal battalion of cavalry raised by the Lyons in protection of railroad bridges, the repressing of partisan onslaughts, and the guarding of towns and villages largely inhabited by citizens loyal to the Union form the basis of the story.

Appleton, Rob., [pseud. for Roman I. Zubof.] The rise of Mrs. Simpson: a true story. N. Y., G: W. Dillingham, 1895. c. 364 p. D. (Dillingham's American authors lib., no. 1.) pap., 50 c. [1202

Another of the author's estimates of the characters of people moving in good society in New York, Boston and Chicago. By hard work Mrs. Simpson's money gets her among the leaders, and Mrs. Harry St. John and Violet, the American Sappho are again seen and spoken of.

Argles, Mrs. Marg., ["The Duchess," pseud., now Mrs. Hungerford.] Beauty's daughters. Chic., E. A. Weeks & Co., [1895.] 333 p. D. (Enterprise ser., no. 20.) pap., 25 c. [1203

Balzac, Honoré de. Lucien de Rubempré; tr. by Katharine Prescott Wormeley. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1895. c. 6+367 p. D. hf. mor., $1.50. [1204

The third and concluding part of "Lost illusions." In the second part, "A great man of the provinces in Paris," Lucien de Rubempré, after a fruitless career in Paris as a man of genius, is left in abject poverty and on the verge of suicide. In this volume he is again on the top wave of success, living in elegant apartments, seemingly wealthy, and courted by the best people. He has become the tool of the man who rescued him from death, an escaped galley slave masquerading as a priest. Under this influence he becomes utterly corrupt, suicide ending his story.

Bamford, S: Passages in the life of a radical, and Early days; ed., with an introd., by H: Dunckley, ["Verax," pseud.] [N. Y., imported by G: P. Putnam's Sons,] 1893 [1895.] 23-253; 3-348 p. D. (Reformer's bookshelf, no. 4.) cl., $2.80. [1205

Bangs, J: Kendrick. Mr. Bonaparte of Corsica; [il. by H. W. McVickar.] N. Y., Harper, 1895. c. 12+265 p. S. cl., $1.25. [1206

A burlesque account of the events in Napoleon's life; by the author of "The idiot," "Coffee and repartee," etc.

Basil (St.). Letters and select works. V. 8, of A select library of Nicene and Post-Nicene fathers of the Christian church. 2d ser.; tr. into English with prolegomena and explanatory notes; ed. by Philip Schaff, D.D., and H: Wace, D.D. N. Y., The Christian Literature Co., 1895. 8°, cl., $4. [1207

Beck, C:, M.D. A manual of the modern theory and technique of surgical asepsis. Phil., W. B. Saunders, 1895. c. il. 12°, (Saunders' new aid ser.) cl., net, $1.25. [1208

Bigelow, J: The life of Samuel J. Tilden. N. Y., Harper, 1895. c. 2 v., 6+416; 5+441 p. pors. il. O. cl., $6. [1209

Mr. Tilden kept copies of everything he wrote, whether of a public or private nature; this habit has enabled Mr. Bigelow, his life-long friend, to throw much light upon his early life, of which comparatively little is generally known. His long and eventful career included episodes of great historical interest of which full details are given, such as the overthrow of the Tweed ring, the presidential canvass of 1876 and the electoral count of 1877 for Hayes, the "cipher despatches," his will and the Tilden Trust, etc. An interesting list of books is given, read to him during the last four years of his life.

Blair, Eliza Nelson, [Mrs. H: W. Blair.] Lisbeth Wilson: a daughter of New Hampshire hills. Bost., Lee & Shepard, [1895.] c. 5+374 p. D. cl., $1.50. [1210

The story deals with the New Hampshire of a generation ago, with its homely scenes and plain, sternly conscientious people. The heroine, Lisbeth Wilson, and her lover are separated by her father, on account of a difference in religious belief, their troubled courtship making a most interesting story. A very real picture is given of the time, and the habits, customs, manners, opinions, controversies, etc., of the people.

Boardman, S: L. Handbook of the turf: a treasury of information for horsemen embracing a compendium of all racing and trotting rules, laws of the state in relation to horses and racing, a glossary of scientific terms, the catchwords and phrases used by great drivers; with miscellaneous information about horses, tracks and racing. N. Y., Orange Judd Co., 1895. 10+303 p. 12°, cl., $1. [1211

Bolles, Frank. Chocorua's tenants. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1895. c. 4+68 p. il. D. cl., $1. [1212

Poems on the birds that haunt Mt. Chocorua: the crow, the log-cock, ruffled grouse, eaves swallow, blue-jay, oven-bird, black domino, the red-poll linnet, the great crested fly-catcher, the whip-poor-will, kingfisher, etc.

Bond's legal directory: complete list of associate attorneys of Bond's commercial agency. Chic., Bond's Commercial Agency, 1895. c. 234 p. 7 leaves, D. cl. (furnished to patrons of the agency only). [1213

Bonner, Hypatia Bradlaugh. Charles Bradlaugh: a record of his life and work, by his daughter; with an account of his parliamentary struggle, politics and teachings, by J: M. Robertson. [N. Y., imported by G: P. Putnam's Sons,] 1894 [1895.] 2 v., 15+400; 9+439 p. pors. O. buckram, $8.40. [1214

Bourget, Paul. Outre-mer; impressions of America. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1895. c. '94, '95. 4+425 p. D. cl., $1.75. [1215

Paul Bourget came to the United States to attend the Chicago Exposition in 1893. His genius in describing details gives color to his estimates of American women and young girls, farmer and cowboys, business men, dwelling-houses, Newport, American amusements, etc. His tone is kindly and appreciative, and his comparisons between American, English and French conditions and his explanations for existing reasons for differences make an instructive as well as an entertaining book. This is the translation that appeared in the New York Herald.

Bracken, Francis, and Grimes, Eustace B. Income tax law; arr. with annots. explaining its several provisions. A compendium of information for taxpayers, thoroughly indexed. Phil., Kay & Bros., 1895. c. 64 p. O. pap., 50 c. [1216

Brobst, Flavius J., D.D. Make way for the king. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1895. c. 3–248 p. D. cl., $1.25. [1217

A series of addresses delivered according to request, by the Rev. Dr. Brobst, of Chicago, at noon, on weekdays, in the Bromfield Street Church, Boston, before the young people of the different churches of Boston and suburbs. In them the regal character of Christ is delineated, and His regal relations to the individual and society are discussed, and man's regal duties, powers and privileges are described and emphasized. They are illustrated by incident and anecdote drawn from a wide range of nature and life.

Comstock, J: H:, and Anna Botsford. A manual for the study of insects. Ithaca, N. Y., Comstock Publishing Co., 1895. c. 9+701 p. il. O. cl., net, $3.75. [1218

This manual by the professor of entomology in Cornell University and in Leland Stanford Junior University, is designed to meet the need for an elementary book in which the appearance and habits of the more common insects are described and by means of which insects may be classified by the aid of analytical keys such as are used in botany. The needs of agricultural students have been kept constantly in view, those species that are of economic importance being fully described and methods given for destroying those that are noxious and also for preventing their ravages. Nearly all the woodcuts have been engraved from nature.

Conway, Moncure D. Centenary history of the South Place Society: based on four discourses given in the chapel in May and June, 1893; with appendix containing an address by Mr. Fox in 1842, an original poem by Mrs. Adams, 1836, and a discourse by Mr. Conway, 1893. [N. Y., imported by G: P. Putnam's Sons,] 1894 [1895.] 12+186 p. pors. D. cl., $2. [1219

Corelli, Marie. The silence of the Maharajah. N. Y., The Merriam Co., [1895.] c. 4–74 p. T. (Merriam's violet ser.) cl., 40 c. [1220

The love of a native prince of India for the wife of an English officer allows the author to contrast the honor and delicacy of a pagan, in a domestic crisis, with the brutality and vulgarity of a so-called "Christian gentleman" The story takes place in India, at the house of Colonel Annesley, in command of a certain English station.

Crocker, H. Radcliffe, M.D. Atlas of the diseases of the skin: in a series of illustrations (colored) from original drawings, with descriptive letter-press. In 16 pts. Pt. 9. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1895. pl. F. cl., per pt., $6. [1221

Dana, Mrs. Frances Theodora, [Mrs. W: Starr Dana.] How to know the wild flowers: a guide to the names, haunts and habits of our common wild flowers; il. by Marion Satterlee. [New] rev. and enl. ed. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1895. c. '93, '95. 17+373 p. D. cl., net, $1.75. [1222

This enlarged edition contains fifty-two new plates—half as many again as can be found in former editions—with the result that in all one hundred and sixty-four American wild flowers are pictured. Sixty or more new flower descriptions are added, raising the number of flowers described to nearly five hundred.

Defoe, Dan. Romances and narratives, ed. by G. A. Aitken; il. by J. B. Yeats. In 16 v. V. 4, The history of the life and adventures of Mr. Duncan Campbell. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1895. il. por. 8°, cl., $1. Limited ed., $1.75. [1223

De Koven, Mrs. Reginald. A sawdust doll. Chic., Stone & Kimball, 1895. c. 2+237 p. S. (Peacock lib.) cl., $1.25. [1224

Alexander Rivington, when fifty years old, was called upon to help an old friend in financial difficulties, and this led to his marriage with the friend's daughter Helen, a young, beautiful, emotional girl of twenty years. Ten years passed quietly in their New York City home, when Philip Aytoun, a young artist and former lover, comes upon the scene. Mrs. Rivington controls her love, and Aytoun goes out of her life to his own misery. The initial volume in a new series showing a title-page of a peacock in color and other Beardsley ornamentations.

A quarter of a century of charming hospitality to men distinguished in all ranks of literature, from all quarters of the globe, is the history of the Lotos Club from its beginning in 1870 in a modest house at 2 Irving Place, New York City. This volume, written for its members, tells the story of many happy Saturday nights, and quotes some of the best bits of innumerable brilliant, witty speeches. Among the names of those entertained were: Tilden, Offenbach, Mark Twain, Whitelaw Reid, Edmund Yates, Froude, Henry M. Stanley, Richard A. Proctor, Charles Kingsley, King Kalakaua, Henry Irving, Dean Hole and Mayor Strong.

Erasmus, Desiderius. Convivia e conloquiis familiaribus selecta; ed. with notes and vocabulary, by Victor S. Clark. Bost., Ginn & Co., 1895. c. '94. 12+197 p. S. (Latin and Greek classics for schools) cl., 55 c. [1233

Continuous selections of such portions of the colloquies as seemed best fitted for school use. Latin footnotes are appended to each page, and an etymological vocabulary added. The English footnotes have been confined largely to an explanation of the literary and historical allusions of the text.

Falkner, W. C. Lady Olivia: a novel. N. Y., G: W. Dillingham, 1895. c. 4-334 p. D. (Southern rose ser.) pap., 50 c. [1234

A romantic love-story told by an old man approaching his hundredth birthday The hero and heroine were born upon the banks of the Hudson River on the same day in 1757. The events immediately preceding the American Revolution give color to the chequered lives of the faithful lovers.

Francis, M. E., [pseud. for Mrs. Francis Blundell, formerly Miss M. E. Sweetman.] A daughter of the soil: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1895. c. 3+301 p. D. cl., $1.25. [1235

After an absence of fifteen years Anthony Clifton returns from India to the English home of his childhood. The details of his past life are unknown to his aunt and cousin, but it is suspected that his pace has been rapid. He falls in love with a noble young girl—"a daughter of the soil"—and marries her after a short courtship, in spite of the remonstrances of his relatives. But a few months of happiness are given to the girl—then a ghost out of her husband's past life parts them. The events that follow show all the husband's unworthiness and the wife's fine character.

Gill, W: The woman who didn't. N. Y., G: W. Dillingham, 1895. c. 192 p. D. (Dillingham's metropolitan lib., no. 1.) pap., 50 c. [1236

Reginald Golday had been a colonel in the southern army. While penniless and stranded in New York City he met Geraldine Barkis, a lovely Virginia girl, to whom he had once been engaged. She was earning her living as a seamstress. Reginald found a $20 gold-piece and in a few years became a millionaire. Geraldine had promised her mother never to marry a rich man and for years refused to listen to Reginald's wooing. After disaster had ruined him she married him at once, and they found happiness in a little cigar store on South Fifth Avenue.

Gissing, G: Eve's ransom: a novel. N. Y., Appleton, 1895. c. 3-379 p. D. (Appleton's town and country lib., no. 165.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c. [1237

A sweet girl's face in a photograph album attracts the hero. An old creditor of this hero's father has just given him a sum of money to clear up some old rather "shady" business transactions. Hilliard starts for London, and meets Eve, the original of the picture. She is a superficial girl, leading a careless, even shameful life. Hilliard befriends her in an honorable manner, and after six months sees her marry his friend to whom she has lied and who knows her character.

Haliburton, Hugh. Furth in field: a volume of essays on the life, language, and literature of old Scotland. [N. Y., imported by G: P. Putnam's Sons,] 1894 [1895.] 5+280 p. D. cl., $2. [1238

Hapgood, Isabel Florence. Russian rambles. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1895. c. 11+369 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Few Americans are more familiar with Russia than Miss Hapgood is, both through a long residence there and study of its literature. Her judgments, based upon keen observation of its social and political conditions, differ from those of many other writers; she found much to praise and admire. The chapters treat of: Passports, police, and post-office in Russia; Bargaining in Russia; A Russian summer resort; A stroll in Moscow with Count Tolstóy; Count Tolstóy at home; A Russian Holy City; A journey on the Volga; The Russian Kumys cure; Moscow memories; Nízhni-Novgórod fair and the Volga, etc.

With this new edition of "Silver and gold," Mr. H. P. Boyden gives a few facts about the author's life and work. S: Dana Horton was born in Pomeroy, O., in 1844, and died Feb. 23, 1895. The first edition of this work was published in 1876; it is considered "one of the most comprehensive discussions of this subject to be found anywhere," and its author one of "the most learned and accomplished of American bimetallists."

Hutton, Laurence. Literary landmarks of Jerusalem. N. Y., Harper, 1895. c. 8-74 p. il. D. cl., 75 c. [1244

In a recent visit to the Holy Land, Mr. Hutton felt so seriously the want of anything like a guide-book relating especially to Jerusalem and its surroundings, that the present work is the result. It is an account, written with reverence, of the various places around which Biblical reminiscences cluster. The full-page illustrations are the work of Frank V. Du Mond, who went to Jerusalem in the spring of 1894, for the especial purpose of making them.

Lee, Mary Catherine. A soulless singer. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co, 1895. c. 4+272 p. D. cl., $1.25. [1252

The heroine has a remarkable voice and admirable technique, but is sadly deficient in emotion, expression, sympathy—soul, in a word. The story leads her through painful experiences, then through experiences which frequently develop whatever fineness and nobility are latent in character; and she is a still more admirable singer, but no longer soulless. By the author of "A Quaker girl of Nantucket."

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

APRIL 20, 1895.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

A PROPOSITION TO AMEND THE BERNE CONVENTION.

THE INTERNATIONAL LITERARY AND ARTISTIC ASSOCIATION (Association littéraire et artistique internationale) will meet in Dresden, Saxony, in September of this year—for the first time on German soil. This Congress will be one of special importance, as it is to be immediately followed by the revision of the Berne Convention, and its chief work will be to gather and formulate the views of authors and artists to be presented to the Committee of Revision. The Executive Committee have laid their plans for a thorough canvass of the opinions and experiences of the countries now in the existing Berne Convention, and to induce countries not yet represented to join the Berne Convention. Among the more important of these countries are the United States of North America, the South American States, Austro-Hungary, Russia, Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Holland. To this end they have issued a circular calling upon all interested to send in reports and statements regarding the weakness of the existing laws, either in the shape of separate monographs of a prescribed length, or in the shape of answers to a list of questions covering all the mooted points of copyright, which answers are to be digested and worked into concise and lucid reports by a properly appointed committee.

The contributions asked for will be printed by the German Authors' Association, and will be presented as a gift to the Congress. All desiring to contribute are requested to communicate at once with Dr. Paul Schmidt of the Börsenblatt, Leipzig, Saxony, stating the points their papers will cover; such communications must all be in hand by July 15. Authors, playwrights, painters, sculptors, composers, librettists, architects, photographers and publishers are specially urged to formulate their separate interests. The sheet of questions sent out is most elaborate, covering the most intricate points and seeming to give thought to almost every objection thus far raised in copyright decisions.

The leading principle of literary copyright is of course assumed to be that the author of a literary production should have such production protected against unauthorized appropriation, reproduction or publication, and in this connection the following questions are offered for consideration:

1. What is a literary production? What marks and distinguishes it from other writings which do not come under this heading?

2. Can the original plan of a literary production be copyrighted? How far must the work be advanced? At what stage of development can the various branches of literary production be copyrighted?

3. Are compilations of literary collections of legends, fairy tales, folk-lore, literary productions, and may they be protected equally with original works?

4. May the title of a work be copyrighted either as a separate work or as a part of a work? Of what relative importance is the title to the work?

5. In joint authorship what protection can be claimed by the individual author?

6. What are the rights of heirs and descendants? May an heir change an inherited work?

7. What limit of copyright would seem wise for the interests of author and public—unlimited copyright, thirty or fifty years after the death of the author, one hundred years after the publication of his work?

8. What is plagiarism? Is it to be considered a criminal and punishable offence, or only to be treated from a moral and æsthetic standpoint?

9. Is the existing freedom of quotation lawful? May it lead to wrong uses? How shall it be limited?

10. Under what conditions does the partial reproduction of a literary work trench upon the rights of the author?

11. Is it lawful to include a part of a literary work, or a whole literary work of small compass in a larger literary work? If allowed, what must be the characteristics of the latter work? Must it be a literary production of literary, religious or educational purpose?

12. How does the work of the translator stand in relation to that of the author? Is the translation a separate, new work, or is it identical with the original? Shall there be different opinions for different classes of literature? If translations are copyrighted as independent works, how shall an author be protected against unauthorized translations? What are the laws governing translations from dead languages?

13. How far may protected works be utilized in new literary productions, such as the dramatizing of a novel, the narrative rendering of a dramatic work, the parodying of a work, the change of metre or form of a poem, the æsthetic analysis of works, the compilation from many works, etc.?

14. Is it to the interest of domestic literature to protect all foreign authors unconditionally, or should such protection be determined and limited by the general interests of literature, or in the case of countries which do not reciprocate privileges (United States, Russia, Holland, etc.)?

The above fourteen questions, which we have stated largely, not having space to give the shades of meaning they cover and the many lesser questions to which such meanings give rise, deal with the authors of literary production. The next seven questions are in the interests of dramatic authors:

1. What is a dramatic work? Must words be spoken or sung to mark a dramatic work? May pantomimes and dances be protected? How is it with living pictures?

2. Is the unauthorized production of a part of a dramatic work, an act, a scene, a monologue, to be considered an infringement of a dramatic author's rights? What are the lawful limits?

3. Is the recitation of a dramatic work to be regarded as a representation, and if unauthorized is it unlawful?

4. Is scenery, as such, entitled to protection?

5. How shall it be decided if two dramatic works dealing with the same subject or problem are identical?

6. What is a public representation? Shall a free performance or a performance before one person or a private circle be so considered?

7. Is it a breach of copyright for theatrical managements to curtail and reshape dramatic works without a contract according such permission?

Other questions relating to the various branches of copyright accorded to artists, musicians, sculptors, etc., are to follow. It is desirable that all interested should take time to clearly answer the points these questions cover, so that the committee in charge might have a consensus of opinion which could be shaped into a volume that, after its generous presentation to the Congress at Dresden, would be a work of reference of lasting value.

A QUESTIONABLE ADVERTISING DODGE.

No doubt a number of professional men in New York and elsewhere have been mystified within the past two or three weeks on the receipt of an autograph note addressed to themselves as follows:

N. Y., 4-11-95.

Dear ——:

If you want a surprise read the novel "——," written by P——R——.

I think you will recognize the character —— ——.

Yours, hastily, E.

In many cases the recipients promptly bought the book, which they found to be of the "cheap and nasty" kind, without point and tiresome. Unless they finally arrived at the conclusion that they had been "taken in" by an advertising dodge, these people will be still more mystified. But if its author were called upon to defend himself in a court of law against the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses he would very likely wish that he hadn't been quite so "smart."

BOOK BURIAL.

Many a book-lover has gone to his last sleep accompanied by a book. Charlemagne was buried with a copy of the four Gospels in gold characters on purple vellum in his hand. The book was taken out when the tomb was broken open by Pope Otho III., and is at the present time in the library at Aix-la-Chapelle.

An old book-lover of the days of George II., Sir William Browne, left instructions for putting in his coffin "in its leathern case or coffin my pocket Elzevir Horace, 'comesviæ vitæque dulcis et utilis,' worn out with and by me."

A somewhat similar instance occurred in connection with the famous Laura. When her grave was opened by Francis I., King of France, there was found a small box containing a medal and a few verses written by Petrarch.

It is well known that the poet Rossetti placed a MS. of his poems under his wife's head. After some years, however, the poet was prevailed upon by certain literary friends to obtain possession of it, and by permission of the Home Secretary it was recovered.

Not only burial but cremation has fallen to the lot of some books. When Shelley's body was burned the volume of Keats which was found in the pocket of the drowned poet was placed in the funeral pyre.

OBITUARY NOTES.

Prof. James D. Dana, of Yale University, a mineralogist and geologist, died at his home in New Haven on April 14. Prof. Dana was born at Utica, N. Y., in 1813, and was graduated at Yale in 1833. He was appointed instructor in mathematics to midshipmen in the United States Navy, and in this capacity visited many foreign countries. In 1836–38 he was assistant to Professor Silliman at Yale College, but meanwhile received another Government appointment, that of mineralogist and geologist to the expedition sent by the United States to the Southern and Pacific oceans under Captain Wilkes. In 1850 he was appointed Silliman professor of natural history and geology at Yale College. Professor Dana was the author of many important works in his chosen line of study. His report on the Government expedition of 1838 was published in elaborate form by the Government, between 1846 and 1854, in several volumes, with many plates, almost all from drawings by himself. His other published works include: "A System of Mineralogy," 1837; "Manual of Mineralogy," 1848; "Manual of Geology," 1863; "Text-Book of Geology," 1864; "Corals and Coral Islands," 1853; "The Geological Story Briefly Told," 1875. Professor Dana retired from the active work of his Yale professorship two years ago.

Eugène Plon, son and business successor of M. Henri Plon, in his day publisher to Napoleon III., died recently at Paris, aged 58. The Plons were of Danish origin, as their name implied. They came from a small island north of Kiel. They were connected with Thorwaldsen, of whom M. Eugène Plon has written a most interesting biography. M. Eugène Plon was also the author of works on Leone Leoni and on Pompey Leoni, sculptors to the Emperor Charles V. and Philip II., and on Benvenuto Cellini. M. Eugène Plon helped to found the Cercle de la Librairie, and was long its chairman. He took a forward part in all the publishing sections of universal exhibitions in France and in other countries.

MRS. FLETCHER HARPER, the widow of the youngest of the four original Harper Brothers, died at the home of her grandson, Mr. J. Henry Harper, 269 Madison Ave., New York, on the 16th inst., aged eighty-seven years. Her maiden name was Jane Freelove Lyon, and she came of an old New York family. She was married in 1826. Since the death of her husband she lived most of the time at her home in Irvington. She leaves several great-grandchildren and four grandchildren—Mr. J. Henry Harper, Mrs. Theodore Haight, Mrs. Hiram Sibley of Rochester, and Mr. Willie D. Harper.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

IS A MUSICAL COMPOSITION A BOOK OR A LITHOGRAPH?

THE case of the Oliver Ditson Company, defendant appellant, vs. Alfred H. Littleton et al., complainants appellees, was taken up last week in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals held in Boston. It is an appeal by the Ditson Company from a decree of the Circuit Court for Massachusetts restraining it from further infringement upon copyrights owned by the appellees upon three musical compositions with these titles: "O Ye That Love the Lord," "A Song of Judgment," and "Lead, Kindly Light." The pieces were composed by citizens of Great Britain.

There is an important law question which is raised by the appellants. It is whether a musical composition is a book or lithograph within the meaning of the proviso in section three of the act of March 3, 1891, which declares that in case of a "book, photograph, chromo or lithograph," the two copies required to be deposited with the librarian of Congress shall be manufactured in this country.

The act referred to states, among other things, that musical compositions may be copyrighted, but in the proviso musical compositions are not mentioned. The judge of the Circuit Court held that, in view of this omission in the proviso, the copies of the compositions need not to have been made from plates in this country. It is the claim of the appellants that the proviso does cover musical compositions, and that as the copies which were filed by the appellees with the librarian of Congress were manufactured in England, they were not entitled to a copyright.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

EX-MAYOR HOPKINS, of Chicago, is at work on a book giving a history of the events that have taken place since he has been Mayor. Among other things he promises to tell is "the real story of the great railroad strike and how Gen. Miles brought the soldiers to Chicago."

MR. GLADSTONE, says the Illustrated London News, has returned from the Riviera in abounding health and spirits. He has devoted his holiday chiefly to omnivorous reading, and the booksellers in the Riviera are said to be quite exhausted by their efforts to supply the needs of a man who in his eighty-sixth year can read ten hours a day.

SINCE "John Oliver Hobbes" resolved himself into Mrs. Craigie, reviewers have been suspicious of masculine noms de guerre; and when "John Smith" reproduced a district visitor's impressions of "Old Brown's Cottages," he was informed that he was "a lady of humor." As a matter of fact, however, John Smith belongs to the sterner sex. He has even written a sporting manual for a series edited by a certain noble duke. It is not impossible, however, that he has enjoyed the advice of "a lady of humor" at his elbow while writing his contribution to the "Pseudonym Library."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Journalist, which was sold a few months ago to Mrs. Margeritha Arlina Hamm Fales, has suspended publication.

All the Year Round, founded by Charles Dickens, and hitherto edited by his son and namesake, is to be discontinued and will be incorporated with Household Words.

A QUARTERLY periodical has been brought out in its first issue under the title Moods: a Journal Intime. This epigrammatic and perhaps decadent journal is issued in Philadelphia.

THE May issue of Scribner's Magazine will contain a short article describing the origin and growth of the poster habit in France, especially in reference to the fad of collecting posters. It will be embellished with many illustrations of some of the best work of Cheret, Willette, and other masters of art.

McClure's Magazine for May will contain a paper on "Journalism," by Charles A. Dana, with portrait of the veteran journalist; and twenty-three portraits of Prince Bismarck, presenting him at every important epoch of his life, from 1834, when he was a student at Göttingen, down to the present day.

SOME time ago the professors of history in Cornell and Harvard took steps, independently, toward founding a quarterly review devoted to history. Some correspondence between the two universities resulted in a movement which was joined in by several other institutions, for the founding of an American Historical Review. A conference of historians and professors of history from the leading colleges of the country was held in New York during the recent spring recess, and it was decided to publish a quarterly, modelled on the English Historical Review and the French Revue Historique, which should be the representative national publication of American historians. The magazine is to be called the American Historical Review, and each number will contain about two hundred pages of original articles, documents book reviews, and news notes. A Board of Editors was selected, consisting of Professors Adams, of Yale; Hart, of Harvard; McMaster, of Pennsylvania; Sloane, of Princeton; and Morse Stephens, of Cornell. It is announced that the University of Chicago will also have a representative on the Editorial Board. The Review will be published in New York, but it has not yet been announced when the first number will appear.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ALBANY, GA.—J. C. Weinberg & Co., dealers in books and stationery, have given a real estate deed for $1000.

BOSTON, MASS.—The young firm of Lamson, Wolffe & Co. was dissolved last week by mutual consent for a very novel reason. Mr. W. B. Wolffe is a senior at Harvard College, and the faculty has had its attention called to his connection with this firm, and Mr. Wolffe has been informed that he could not receive his degree if he remained in business. He promptly withdrew from the firm.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The Bibliotheca Sacra Co. has been incorporated by C. S. Raddin, R. W. Day and Charles Nebner, to publish Bibles. Capital stock $10,000.

COLORADO SPRINGS, COL.—I. M. Low will take charge of the Chain & Hardy Book-Store, having purchased it. Mr. Low for the past fifteen years has been the secretary and treasurer of the Chain & Hardy Co. in Denver, and has been with it through all its changes. He has now decided to enter business on his own account, and has purchased the fine little branch of the establishment in Colorado Springs. It will be run under the name of the I. M. Low Book-Store, and will be entirely separate from the old establishment.

EMPORIA, KAN.—Jonas E. Eckdall has bought an interest in the book-store of Rowland & Jones, and the firm hereafter will be known as Rowland, Jones & Eckdall.

GALLIPOLIS, O.—A new book-store conducted exclusively by ladies has been started. The firm-name is Cherrington & Co., and Misses Bird Cherrington, Nancy Smith and Alice Cherrington are those interested in the enterprise.

MADISON, WIS.—W. J. Park & Son, book dealers, stationers and dealers in musical instruments, have closed their doors on account of several attachments. The liabilities are $4500; assets, $10,000. The attachments were made by the State Bank of Madison, McClurg & Co. and Lyon & Healy, of Chicago.

NEW YORK CITY.—A. S. Clark, 34 Park Row, has removed to 174 Fulton Street, west of Broadway, upstairs.

NEWTON, VA.—Mrs. King has disposed of the East Side Book-Store, Mr. Hargrave, of Atalissa, Ia., being the purchaser.

PEORIA, ILL.—The Jacquin-Oden Book and Music Co. has changed its name to the Jacquin-Oden Stationery Co.

RALEIGH, N. C.—Mr. E. G. Harrell, surviving partner of the old firm of Alfred Williams & Co., booksellers and stationers, which has wound up its business in consequence of the recent death of one of the partners, will continue the business as manager of a stock company entitled "The North Carolina Book and Publishing Company." Publishers, manufacturing stationers and jobbers are kindly requested to send their latest catalogues and price-lists.

ROME, N. Y.—John L. Wilson is fitting up a book-store here.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

MR. GEORGE J. COOMBES, recently with J. W. Bouton, has taken a position with Macmillan & Co.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have in press a new novel by Frank R. Stockton entitled "The Adventures of Captain Horn."

FREDERICK WARNE & CO. will publish shortly an illustrated volume entitled "Angling and How to Angle," by R. B. Marston, editor of the London Fishing Gazette.

JAMES H. EARLE, Boston, has in press for immediate publication a novel in answer to "Ships that Pass in the Night." It is entitled by way of contrast, "Ships by Day."

T. Y. CROWELL & COMPANY have ready the fifth thousand of Professor Ely's "Socialism and Social Reform," and the second thousand of Professor Warner's "American Charities."

WARD, LOCK & BOWDEN, LTD., have just ready in their handsome edition of Henry Kingsley's novels, "The Hillyars" and "The Burtons," and "Silcote of Silcotes," forming respectively the third and fourth volumes in the series. These will be followed by eight other volumes.

MEYER BROS. & CO. announce that they will bring out the following French books on the day of publication by their Paris branch: "Petite Amie," by Vignée d'Octon; "L'Ange," by M. Maizeroy; "Au fond du cœur," by D. Lesueur; "Notre compagne," by M. M. Prévost; and "Cœurs meurtris," by Theuriet.

THE JOHNS HOPKINS PRESS, Baltimore, receives subscriptions for Dr. Stephen B. Weeks' "Southern Quakers and Slavery," a work embracing some 300 pages octavo. Dr. Weeks has just published among the Bibliographical Contributions of Harvard University a Bibliography of the Historical Literature of North Carolina.

THE corresponding secretary of the Virginia Historical Society, Mr. Philip A. Bruce, 707 East Franklin Street, Richmond, Va., has given notice that if a sufficient number of subscribers at $1.50 can be secured the society is prepared to publish entire in one volume the "Minutes of the Virginia Company of London (1619–1624)," heretofore published only in abstracts.

AN édition de luxe of the 1895 Cornellian, limited to twenty copies, has just been published, bound in Cornell colors, red gros-grain sides and white vellum back, and stamped with a laurel wreath encircling the figures "'95." The books are intended for members of the Board of Editors, the winners of the Cornellian prizes, the president of the university, the university library, etc.

THE Grolier Club's committee on publications announces a work of considerable interest. It is to be a catalogue of the engraved plates made by Asher Brown Durand, a man whose memory is associated with a picturesque period in our literary and artistic history. His life and work brought him in contact with some interesting figures, and this catalogue will be a valuable adjunct to the biography published not long ago.

THE MERRIAM COMPANY announce for immediate publication the following books: "The Romance of the Sword," an historical novel, translated from the French of Georges Duval by Mary J. Safford; "Some Good Intentions and a Blunder," by John Oliver Hobbes in Merriam's Violet Series; "The Company Doctor," by Henry Edward Rood; "A Modern Pagan," by Constance Goddard DuBois; "Corona of the Nautahalas," by Louis Pendleton; "Two Women," by Lida Ostrom Vanamee; and "Aunt Belindy's Points of View," by Lydia Hoyt Farmer.

SATURDAY, the 13th inst., was the first anniversary of the organization of the Lothrop Publishing Company. The employees planned a pleasant surprise for the officers of the corporation, who returned from dinner to find their attractive offices radiant with flags and bunting and palms, while the appropriate motto "Excelsior" greeted the entrance of the surprised president, secretary and treasurer. An address of congratulation was read by Miss Sawyer, of the Electrotype department, to which President Pennell, after some natural hesitation, responded. It was a very pleasant recognition of the successful completion of the first year of this new and vigorous corporation, and was the "happy thought" of the young ladies of the office force. Mr. Victor M. Cupples, the popular traveller of the company, was chief decorator.

FREDERICK WARNE & CO. will issue immediately the first part of "The Royal Natural History," edited by Professor Lydekker; "The Sheep Doctor," an entirely new work on this important subject, by Prof. Armatage; "Wayside and Woodland Blossoms," a pocket guide to British wildflowers, with colored plates; "The Spirit of Cookery," a popular treatise on the history, science, practice, and ethical and medical import of culinary art, with a dictionary of terms, by Prof. Thudichum; "Dinners Up to Date," with menus in French and English; "Paul Heriot's Pictures," by Alison McLean, author of "Quiet Stories from an Old Woman's Garden; "The Legends of King Arthur and His Knights," compiled and arranged by James Knowles (of the Nineteenth Century Magazine); "Angling and How to Angle," a practical guide, by R. B. Marston, editor of The Fishing Gazette; also, "Eliza Cook's Poems," with additions, will be added to the Albion Edition of the poets.

FOREIGN NOTES.

WARD, LOCK & BOWDEN have withdrawn Oscar Wilde's "Dorian Grey" from circulation.

WM. HEINEMANN, London, will publish towards the end of this month two volumes of letters of Samuel Taylor Coleridge, edited by his grandson, E. H. Coleridge.

A COLLECTION of the late Robert Louis Stevenson's letters is to be edited by Sidney Colvin. They are uncommonly clever epistles, exhibiting the qualities found in the writer's books with others as agreeable, if less familiar.

REMINGTON & CO., London, have just begun the publication of a new series of foreign classics, edited by Sonley Johnstone. The first issue is vol. i. of Molière's Comedies, to be followed, at monthly intervals, by La Rochefoucauld's Maxims, Corneille, Boileau, Voltaire, Racine, etc. Each volume will contain a short history of the author's life and work.

IN the course of a long and close connection with many of the most distinguished writers of the century, William Blackwood & Sons, of London, have naturally acquired much interesting literary material. Mr. Blackwood, the present head of the house, has, we learn, placed this material in the hands of Mrs. Oliphant for use in a work to consist of biographies of former members of the firm. The book is likely to prove an extremely valuable chapter of literary reminiscence and biography.

AN English lady, Mrs. Plumtre, has just finished a dictionary for the blind in Braille. It has been a great undertaking, and has occupied her nearly two and a half years, working at it four, five, and often six hours a day. Each definition has to be carefully considered and reduced to the concise form required. It fills 3200 pages large-sized Braille, and contains about 26,000 words. It will make fifteen or sixteen large volumes, and will be the only dictionary with meanings in Braille.

TASSO'S tercentenary is to be observed at Rome by an exhibition of manuscripts, relics and works relating to the poet in the convent of Sant' Onofrio, where he died, April 25, 1595. Dr. Baccelli, the Minister of Public Instruction, has established a competition for the best work on Tasso written by students in the Italian universities; the prizes will be awarded at the Capitol, where the poet was to have been crowned when he fell ill. Sorrento will also commemorate the tercentenary with a royal festival, at which Marion Crawford will represent America.

T. F. UNWIN has just issued a dainty little book, entitled "Good Reading about Many Books, mostly by their authors," in which many well-known writers of recent popularity give interesting data concerning themselves and their work. Among the contributors appear the names of S. R. Crockett, Sir Gavan Duffy, Mrs. Craigie ("John Oliver Hobbes"), Henry Norman, W. Martin Conway, Mrs. H. Bradlaugh-Bonner, etc. In many cases portraits of the contributors are given. The little book is intended primarily for booksellers, and is dedicated to such in a prefatory note.

AMONG the comparatively recent acquisitions of the British Museum are a number of unpublished tales by Charlotte Brontë. These tales were written by her under the pseudonym of "Lord Charles Albert Florian Wellesley," the surname being no doubt chosen by her through her admiration for the character of the hero of Waterloo. The Museum also possesses a letter in which Miss Brontë refused to allow a London publisher to bring out her portrait. A valuable legacy lately received by the Museum is that of a collection of letters, the correspondence of the Lake Poets with Daniel Stuart, the editor of The Morning Post. In accordance with the terms of the bequest, these precious documents are to be withheld from public use for ten years.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

WHO is the publisher of a German-English Bible?—Geo. Brumder, 286 West Water St., Milwaukee, Wis.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the harge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☞ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as "not having been received."

Publications for the Spring and Summer Season.

A New Story by Anna Katharine Green, author of "The Leavenworth Case," "Marked Personal," etc.

Doctor Izard.

12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

This story is quite distinct in character from the author's previous books. It has already been printed as a serial, and the reviewers speak of it as "a story of distinctive originality and exceptional power, which will linger in the memory of its readers."

Of Miss Green's several romances, nearly three-quarters of a million copies in all have been sold. The latest issue, "The Doctor, His Wife, and the Clock," published recently in the "Autonym Library," is now in its third edition. Very few of the American romancers have been able, like Miss Green, to hold the attention of an increasing circle of readers for a term of over twenty years.

By THOMAS G. SHEARMAN. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

Historic Doubts Relative to Napoleon Buonaparte.

By RICHARD WHATELY, D.D., Archbishop of Dublin. 12mo, cloth, 75 cents.

A new and attractive edition of this famous monograph, in which the author of the celebrated "Elements of Logic" takes the novel position that the actual existence of such a character as Napoleon cannot be proved, and in which he throws grave doubts on the whole Napoleonic "legend."

Yale Yarns.

By JOHN SEYMOUR WOOD. Similar in general style to "Harvard Stories." Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

A volume of characteristic stories of Yale undergraduate life, full of humor, and written something in the same vein as W. K. Post's recently published "Harvard Stories."

LIFE AND LETTERS OF ERASMUS. By JAMES A. FROUDE. 8vo, 2.50.

Lotos-Time in Japan.

By HENRY T. FINCK, author of "The Pacific Coast Scenic Tour," etc. Illustrated. Crown 8vo, $1.75

Mr. Finck's new volume presents the results of a recent tour in Japan, and covers both beaten and unbeaten tracks from Southern Kyoto to the Island of Yezo, the abode of the convicts and aboriginal Ainos. The daily life, manners and customs, and institutions of the people are treated in an agreeable style, particularly noteworthy features being the chapters dwelling on the charms of Japanese women, and the interesting comparison of Japanese civilization with that of America.

First Series. [Now in its twenty-second edition.]

Chimmie Fadden, Major Max, and Other Stories.

By EDWARD W. TOWNSEND. Illustrated. Paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

Nobody has found more strength, more character or more humor, pathos and wholesome fun in the Bowery than has Mr. Townsend. His "Chimmie Fadden" is the real Bowery; its fashions, habits and class-levels. There is but one Bowery. To have "Chimmie" and the other interesting characters of Mr. Townsend's stories clearly outlined, illustrated and bound is to be able to preserve a distinct American type of character done in a manner beyond praise.

110th Thousand.

NEW REVISED EDITION OF

The Little Minister.

By J. M. BARRIE. Paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.25. Century Series, cloth, gilt top, without illustrations, 75 cents. From new plates, with ten full-page illustrations, and containing the author's latest corrections and revisions.

[Ready about May 20th.
